

HUNTING COOLER RETREATS

Annual Exodus of Society People is Well Under Way.

MANY FAMILIES PREPARE TO GO AWAY

This Year the Omaha Citizens are Inclined to Be a Guest Rather Than a Host—Happenings of the Week.

Society people are packing their trunks and values and are preparing to hit the road to the mountains, lakes, woods and seashore, there to rest and take life easy during the heated time that is close at hand. While the exodus has not yet begun, the fact that the Omaha citizens are inclined to be a guest rather than a host is a fact that is well known to all.

Although it cannot be stated as a positive fact, all of the indications, however, seem favorable for more people leaving the city this summer than ever before during any one season. This summer city people all have money, and they are inclined to spend it enjoying themselves. Some of them will go north, some east, and a great many west. Last summer thousands of Omaha families remained at home to entertain relatives and friends and this summer many of these people are going to repay the visits and put themselves in the positions of guests instead of hosts.

Many of the Omaha people will take their vacations early in order that they may be at home after the Great American Exposition gets under way, that they may participate in the pleasures to be found there.

One form of summer outing that has become quite popular in this vicinity is that of occupying country residences. This summer an unusually large number of the city people will live on farms within a few miles of Omaha. This will permit the men to transact their business in the city, and at the same time it will afford the members of their families rest and cool retreats, such as are only found in the wooded hills of the farms along the bluffs, and the numerous small streams heretofore.

Just at present considerable interest centers around the Kountze-Andersen wedding, and during the last six days many pleasant events of a most elaborate nature, and each one perfect of its kind, have been given in honor of the two members of Omaha's four hundred. The two days which now remain before the important ceremony takes place will be very busy ones for the prospective bride and groom, for whom many are anxious to arrange some pleasant event. The actual ceremony, which will take place in Trinity Cathedral next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, will not be followed by a reception, but the wedding party and the members of the two families will be the guests of Mr. Andersen at supper.

The sweet girl graduates, too, and their brothers and cousins, will come in for their share of attention, before the close of the week, for no one is in the least likely to be oblivious of the fact that today is the first day of that all-important period in the school year known from time immemorial as commencement week.

White-Bingham.
The marriage of Miss Jessie M. Bingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bingham, to Mr. Le Roy White at the home of the bride's parents yesterday afternoon was a pretty episode in the celebration in the evening of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bingham's marriage. The younger people were married by the same minister who united the bride's parents a quarter of a century ago, and the ceremony remained from the afternoon for the ceremonies of the evening. To the wedding in the afternoon only the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the families were bidden. The bride stood for the ceremony under a beautiful canopy of white roses, hung in the double doorway between the parlors. The wedding march to which the bride and groom came through the ribboned aisle was played by Mrs. Koch, a classmate of the bride. The parlors and dining room, in which the wedding luncheon was served immediately after the ceremony, were decorated entirely in pink.

Telegrams from relatives at a distance, addressed to both the younger and the elder couple, were received at intervals during the day. In the evening a large number of guests from Denver and Salt Lake. On their return they will be at home at 2295 Farnam street.

For the evening function a much larger number of guests had been asked, the invitation list numbering some 150 names. The large number in the circles of personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bingham was increased by the addition of many of Mr. Bingham's official associates of the city administration. The mayor, council and city officials presided at a handsome chest of silver. City Clerk Higby made a presentation speech and Mr. Bingham responded briefly. The reception hours were from 7 to 9 and from 9 to 11 p. m.

Society on the Stage.
Society people and members of the two Omaha companies of the state militia have combined in preparing an entertainment for the benefit of the Old Ladies' and Children's home, which will be put on the stage of the Boyd theater June 29 and 30. The play will consist of allegorical scenes planned to represent incidents and ideas of the war for the liberation of Cuba. "Liberty," "Freedom," "Ambassadors," the "Fates" and the "Historians" will appear, surrounded by innumerable attendants, such as armor bearers, flower girls, musicians and palm bearers. "Isabella's Sacrifice," an original monologue, will be given by Mrs. Emma M. Connor. In the second act the Thurston fight will represent life of a Cuban sugar plantation. Introducing quartet singing, songs, dances and an elaborate cake-walk. Then will follow a scene with General Maceo and the insurgents. A Cuban spy will be captured by the Spaniards and, in which the Red Cross society will appear, will be fought. The surrender of Toral's army will be enacted and the whole brought to a close with the representation of a peace jubilee in a city of the United States.

THE OLD WAY.
Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and useless Error.
We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at the present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken; and as the starvation plan is supposed by many to be the first essential. The almost certain failure of the starvation cure has been proven time and again, but still the momentary dyspeptic seeks to escape a course of dieting is at once advised.

As this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting. A man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ, every nerve and every fibre in the body. What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of food, wholesome, well cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach in its work. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia. In other words, in patients with plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him. In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of most food or grain.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Tablets is the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend for its excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents for full sized packages at all drug stores.
